Faculty and Staff Achievements

Gustavo Carlo, Human Development and Family Science, will receive the 2015 book award from the American Educational Research Association (AERA) Moral Development and Education Special Interest Group for Prosocial Development. He was also selected for Fellow status in the Association for Psychological Science (APS).

Three Human Development and Family Science faculty members were honored at a reception in March 2015 for MU Top Faculty Achievers, hosted by Chancellor Bowen Loftin. Millsap Professor of Diversity in HDFS, Gustavo Carlo, was honored for being elected to Fellow status in both the American Psychological Association and the American Psychological Society in 2014. Assistant Professors Sarah Killoren and Antoinette Landor were honored for receiving grants from the National Science Foundation.

Michael Goldschmidt, Architectural Studies, was appointed as director of the Healthy Homes Partnership (HHP), which is funded by the USDA. His role will be to coordinate healthy homes curriculum and training nationwide and coordinate states receiving federal grants for outreach, education, and research.

Jung Ha-Brookshire, Textile and Apparel Management, was elected Vice President of Operations for the International Textile and Apparel Association (ITAA) Council where she will serve until 2017.

Jill Kanaley, Nutrition and Exercise Physiology, has been named a Jefferson Science Fellow (JSF) by the US Department of State. The JSF program is overseen by the Office of the Science and Technology Adviser to the Secretary of State, with administrative support of the National Academies. Jefferson Science Fellows serve for one year at the U.S. Department of State or USAID as science and technology advisors on foreign policy issues. She is the first Mizzou faculty member to ever receive this distinction.

Heather Leidy, Nutrition and Exercise Physiology, won the 2015 Mead Johnson Nutrition Award for her outstanding nutrition research.

Graham McCaulley and Brenda Procter, Personal Financial Planning, were awarded a $150,000 contract with Missouri Foundation for Health effective May 1, 2015, to provide education through Extension’s Health Insurance Education Initiative. Under the contract, insurance agents/brokers, community outreach organizations, insurance enrollment assisters, consumers and businesses will receive training about health insurance options and requirements under the Affordable Care Act.

Jean Parsons, Textile and Apparel Management, had her Waterfall design featured at the 2014 Endangered Art for Apes exhibit in Miami, Florida. She also received the Scholar’s Roundtable Choice for 2015 from the Costume Society of America.

Jaume Padilla, Nutrition and Exercise Physiology, is the recipient of the 2015 American Physiological Society – Environmental and Exercise Physiology Section New Investigator Award as well as the 2015 Experimental Physiology Annual Inaugural Review Prize.
Aaron Thompson, School of Social Work, received a $3.5 million grant from the U.S. Department of Education: “Evaluation of a Self-Monitoring Training Program for Elementary School Students.” Thompson will work with colleagues in MU’s College of Education to test the efficacy of the Self-Monitoring Training and Regulation Strategy (STARS). STARS is a selective intervention program for 5th grade students who exhibit signs of disruptive and challenging classroom behaviors.

Student Achievements

Lauren Bauer, Austin Lewis, and Megan Reinkemeyer, Personal Financial Planning seniors, won the 2015 Society of Financial Service Professionals Industry Issues Competition, a national competition where the students were asked to examine the question “Career Evolution…How Do You Begin, Where Are You Now, and Where Do You Expect to Wind Up?”

The Mizzou Alumni Association presents Mizzou ’39 Awards to 39 outstanding seniors each year. Among those named for 2015 were Alexa Burtnett, Nutrition and Exercise Physiology, and Victoria Yu, Human Development and Family Science. Burtnett and Yu are both members of the Dean’s Advisory Board and were chosen for their academic achievement, leadership and service to MU and the community.

Eight students from the MU Department of Textile and Apparel Management were recipients of the 2015 YMA-Fashion Scholarship Fund National Competition where each will receive a $5,000 scholarship. The 2015 recipients are: Emily Cissell, Katherine Class, Wewei Hong, Jerica Leiby, Courtney King, Lindsey Mitchell, Megan Wood, Ava Zanzie.

Jung Sim Jun, Social Work doctoral candidate, has been selected as a doctoral student Minority Fellow with the Council on Social Work Education. Dr. Colleen Galambos serves as her advisor.

Kearsten Peoples, Human Development and Family Science senior, was honored by the Women’s Intersport Network (WIN) of Columbia as the Collegiate Sportswoman of the Year. Kearsten is a senior in HDFS and an All American thrower for the Mizzou Track and Field team.

Andrea Roach, Human Development and Family Science doctoral student, was elected as one of two Student and New Professional Representatives for the Feminism and Family Studies section of NCFR. Her term will start after the 2015 NCFR annual conference and will continue through the 2017 NCFR annual conference.

Program Achievements

The Architectural Studies’ high ranking CIDA interior design program was again cited in the top five of interior design programs in the Midwest for 2015. DesignIntelligence conducts an annual study of “America’s Best Architecture & Design Schools” during the summer months and the results are reported in November. This year 1,426 US firms and organizations employing architecture, design, and landscape architecture professionals participated.

The federally grant-funded Great Plains ADA Center has joined Architectural Studies. Under the leadership of Jim DeJong, Executive Director, the Center’s mission is to provide information, technical assistance and training on the Americans with Disabilities Act. The center serves people and organizations within Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska.

The Missouri Historic Costume and Textile Collection ranked among the “top ten things to do” during the week of Mizzou’s 175th anniversary celebration.

A grant for more than $1 million was awarded by the United States Health Resources and Services Administration to the MU School of Social Work and the UMSL School of Social Work to increase the behavioral health work forces who serve high-need young adults ages 16-25 throughout the state and in East St. Louis, Ill.